1. Introduction.

EnergyAustralia recognises our customers and employees may be exposed to family violence. As an essential service provider, EnergyAustralia is committed to actively supporting customers and employees that may be affected by family violence.

This policy sets out EnergyAustralia's commitment to effectively supporting customers and employees affected by family violence.

A key priority of the EnergyAustralia's Family Violence Policy is to ensure all customers and employees affected by family violence are provided safe, supportive and flexible assistance and all interactions are undertaken in a respectful and sensitive manner.

EnergyAustralia promotes measures to reduce family violence in the community.

In an emergency or if you're not feeling safe, always call 000.

1.1 Purpose.

The purpose of this policy is to set out EnergyAustralia's approach in dealing with and supporting customers and employees who may be affected by family violence.

1.2 Definition of family violence.

Family violence, as defined in the Family Violence Protection Act 2008 (Vic), is:

- Behaviour by a person towards a family member of that person if that behaviour is:
  - Physically or sexually abusive; or
  - Emotionally or psychologically abusive; or
  - Economically abusive; or
  - Threatening; or
  - Coercive; or
  - In any other way controls or dominates the family member and causes that family member to fear for the safety or wellbeing of that family member or another person.
- Behaviour by a person that causes a child to hear or witness, or otherwise be exposed to the effects of behaviour referred to above.

Family violence is also commonly referred to as domestic violence.

1.3 What is economic abuse in a family violence situation?

Economic or financial abuse is a serious form of family violence that occurs when a perpetrator uses money as a means of power, to control their partner or family member. It occurs in many different forms and can affect anyone.

1.4 Why it matters.

Financial abuse is one of the most powerful ways a perpetrator can keep their partner or family member trapped in an abusive relationship and may also impact on that person's ability to stay safe once they leave the relationship. Essential services can be used by perpetrators of family violence to coerce and cause harm as a form of economic abuse, due to the critical function essential services play in daily life.

2. Our family violence policy.

This Policy applies to employees and customers identified by themselves, EnergyAustralia or notified to EnergyAustralia by an independent financial counsellor or case worker, as someone who is, or may be, affected by family violence.

3. Our commitment.

3.1 Our commitment to customers.

Account security.

EnergyAustralia respects your safety and privacy. Unless you instruct us otherwise, we will not disclose your information to anyone else, even if their name is on the account. All conversations are confidential and access to confidential information will be provided only with the customer's consent. Only staff who are directly involved will have access to the information you provide.

EnergyAustralia will work with you to identify a safe and practicable method of communicating with or providing information to you.

Debt management.

EnergyAustralia recognises family violence is a potential cause of payment difficulty.

EnergyAustralia provides support and assistance to customers left with debt as a result of family violence. We'll work with you to find a solution for your individual situation and won't restrict your energy supply.

As part of our commitment to supporting all customers, including those impacted by family violence, EnergyAustralia aims to provide hardship assistance as quickly as possible, where possible. This could include minimising the need for additional documentation or providing longer term assistance with repayments.

You can access EnergyAustralia's hardship policy on our website at energyaustralia.com.au/home/bills-and-accounts/hardship-policy.

Employee training & awareness.

EnergyAustralia will treat you with understanding and respect, explain how we can assist you in this difficult situation, and give you as much time as you need to consider your options.

We have provided awareness training for all employees who engage with customers and their managers, and employees who are responsible for the systems and processes that guide or define our interactions with customers. This awareness training will support them in:

- Understanding the nature and consequences of family violence,
- Identifying and appropriately engaging with customers who may be affected by family violence, and
- Ensuring they are aware of how this Policy is applied,

so they may engage with affected customers in a respectful and sensitive manner and provide safe, supportive and flexible assistance.

Family violence disclosure.

EnergyAustralia has a secure process designed to ensure you only have to explain your situation once. We will be guided by the information you provide to us.

Support and assistance.

EnergyAustralia has identified external support services who can provide assistance to customers affected by family violence. We may refer you to these services for further assistance at a time and in a manner that considers your immediate circumstances.

In an emergency or if you're not feeling safe, always call 000.

For immediate support, you can contact:

3.2 Our commitment to employees.

EnergyAustralia maintains a supportive work environment for employees who feel comfortable requesting assistance for family violence related concerns. We all have a role to play in creating and maintaining this environment.

The support EnergyAustralia offers to employees affected by family violence will be tailored according to the employee's needs and circumstances, but may include:

- Assistance in accessing relevant support services
- Access to leave arrangements as set out in the Leave Policy
- Access to flexible working arrangements
- Support for implementing security and privacy measures at work
- A safety plan designed in conjunction with EnergyAustralia's Security Lead
- Use of EnergyAustralia's Family Violence Toolkit
- Support from staff trained in EnergyAustralia's established protocols for confidential management of personal records.

3.3 Our commitment to our communities.

EnergyAustralia promotes measures to reduce family violence in the community. This may include:

- Participation in internal or external events which raise awareness of family violence
- Supporting organisations which directly or indirectly assist people affected by family violence (e.g. via EnergyAustralia's Workplace Giving program, or through community partnerships).

4. Complaints.

We want to make our Family Violence Policy work for our customers and employees, and we will do what we can to resolve your concerns.

If you are a customer and have a complaint about our Family Violence Policy, we will do our best to work towards an early resolution. Our Customer Resolutions team is available to discuss your concerns via online chat at energyaustralia.com.au/livechat (Monday to Friday, 8.00am to 9.00pm & Saturday, 9.00am to 6.00pm AEST) or you can call us on 133 466 (Monday to Friday, 8.00am to 8.00pm AEST).
