

EnergyAustralia supporting bush fire awareness

Although high winds are great for wind farming, they can also increase the potential risk of bushfires occurring near our site.

Bush fires are one of the many environmental risks that we actively manage at our Waterloo wind farm. Jointly developed with the CFS, our bushfire plans have been in place since Waterloo began operating and ensure our local fire authorities have rapid, ready access to our site and fire management systems.

Like any responsible land manager, we also recognise the importance of preventing bush fires. As part of our Bushfire Mitigation Plan we liaise with our landholders about excessive build-up of fuel, maintain access roads and conduct patrols throughout our site. We also involve the local CFS in our Emergency Exercises.

Our wind farm operators call 000 to report a bushfire emergency – we ask that you do the same.
